W. G. Moffat spent the Thanksgiving holiday with friends and relatives in Clarendon.

A staff of special constables is being appointed to guard the town from devilment on Halloween night. Those caught in the act of damaging property will be forced to replace same.

There are still a few ditches near the highway through the Frank slide that have not been visited by motor vehicles, and there are many rocks near the roadway that have not been hit.

Matthew Robert Maybank, 58, pioneer druggist of Innisfail and Olds, passed away at Olds on Saturday evening. He is survived by his wife, three sons, Walter, Ralph and Herbert, and one daughter, Mrs. Robert Cruickshank, of Stavelay; also one brother, Ralph Maybank, House of Commons member for Winnipeg south centre, and one sister, Ann, in Toronto. The remains were laid to rest at Olds on Tuesday afternoon.

PASS LAUNCHES VICTORY LOAN WITH A BANG

Practically the whole populace of Blairmore and Frank turned out at the local bandstand on Sunday afternoon to witness the ceremonies of the opening of Canada's Third Victory Loan campaign.

Local air cadets, airmen, army men, etc., lined up near the school and on main street to form the procession which, headed by Sergt. Mudman and members of the R.C.M.P., paraded east and then west through the town, finally reaching the central park where they were joined by the members of the I.O.D.E. and Miss Canadas. The "dagger" was presented to His Worship Mayor E. Williams by Mrs. Simister, regent of the Crows' Nest Chapter of the I.O.D.E., following the raising of the Victory Loan flag. In accepting the Commando Dagger, Mayor Williams delivered a forceful address, in which he called upon all to raise their share of the loan quota. Invocation and benediction were given by Rev. E. B. Arrol prior to the singing of "O Canada" and at the close.

Immediately following the ceremony here, all repaired to Bellevue, where they found a few thousand citizens of Bellevue, Hillcrest, Maple Leaf and points east, also Coleman, gathered. The parade here, headed by the Union Jack and Stars and Stripes, and followed by the R.C.A.F. band, of Macleod, members of the R.C.M.P., Air Cadets of Coleman, Blairmore and Bellevue, and the Miss Canadas, made a brilliant picture as they marched through main street to Maple Leaf and return to the Bellevue arena, where a splendid entertainment was provided by the Victory Loan concert party and the band. During this programme, Commando Daggers were presented to Messrs. H. C. McBurney and William Kerr, representing Coleman and Bellevue-Hillcrest respectively.

A large stage had been erected in the west end of the arena, gall decorated with flags and bunting, and well lighted. Loud speakers were also provided for the benefit of the four thousand or more people who attended. In addition to the regular seating capacity of the arena—2,000—extra seats had been built in the pit, and by the time the concert got under way, all seating space had been occupied, while fully one thousand were obliged to stand.

The programme opened with "O Canada" and the raising of the Victory Loan flag. Following the programme, members of the concert party and their escorts were guests of the Bellevue, Blairmore and Coleman committees at luncheon in the I.O.O.F. hall.

Miss Louise Knappman arrived by Sunday afternoon's train from Bellingham, Wash., to visit her sister, Mrs. R. G. Foot, at Bellevue, and her father, Mr. S. Knappman, here. We understand that before returning home she will also visit her sister, Mrs. L. Pozzi, at Medicine Hat.

The Newfoundland steamship Caribou was torpedoed in the early hours of Wednesday last when about thirty miles from Port aux Basques. Capt. Taverner and his two sons went down with their 5,000-ton ship. One hundred and thirty-seven lives were lost, including men, women and children. Most of the men were connected with the armed forces in Canada and Newfoundland. Among the victims was Pilot Officer J. H. Barrett, of the R. C. A. F., who with his bride was enroute to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Barrett, at Curling, Newfoundland, following which they were to take up residence at Vulcan, Alberta. Mr. Barrett was nephew of Mr. Doyle Barrett, former publisher of the Coleman Miner. There were 101 persons rescued.

Nothing matters now but VICTORY

FIRST AID NOTICE

A general meeting of Blairmore First Aid Association will be held in the Main School on Sunday, November 1st, at 11 a.m., for the purpose of organising for the coming season. It is hoped that all first-aiders and others interested in learning first aid will keep this date in mind. Following this organization, classes may start the following Sunday, of which all will be informed.

Ladies interested in first aid are specially urged to organise their own group, so that classes can be arranged. Mr. G. Erikson is president and Mr. R. Oakes is secretary of the local association.

OUR PERSONAL WAR

The aggressive spirit, native to Canadians, will be reflected in the results of the Third Victory Loan. We like to "get things done." So we press for land action in Europe, even as we realize that such action will take a toll of the lives of some of the boys we love—our sons, our brothers and our husbands.

Out of that same spirit we will provide the money needed to see these boys through to Berlin and Berchtesgaden. If we cannot go with them personally through the hell of explosives, we shall see to it that they take with them all the material they need to extinguish that hell as they drive into the heart of Germany.

If, in order to buy bonds, some of us must choose between comfort and no comfort, between entertainment that costs money and entertainment that doesn't, between lots to eat and not so much to eat, between new clothes and old ones, Canadians will choose to do what is necessary to buy the bonds that bolster the boys.

Rev. Dean M. A. Harrington, of Blairmore, whose decease has been extended to include Cowley, North Fork, Beaver Mines and all points inside to Crows' Nest, has been assigned an assistant, Rev. Father Leonard, recently ordained to the priesthood. Father Leonard entered upon his new duties last week.

MRS. A. WOMERSLEY PASSES

Resident of Blairmore for quite a number of years and very well known and highly respected, Elizabeth, beloved wife of Mr. Alfred Womersley, passed away at her home here on Sunday morning last after a lingering illness. A native of England, Mrs. Womersley came to Canada many years ago. For several years prior to coming to Blairmore, she and her husband resided in Medicine Hat. She was in her 59th year and is survived by her husband and one son, Edward. The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon from the home to the United Church, where service was conducted by Rev. E. B. Arrol, B.A. The remains were laid to rest in the Blairmore Union cemetery. A. E. Ferguson, of the Crows' Nest Pass Funeral Home, was in charge of arrangements. Floral tributes were many and beautiful.

Stettler went over his Third Victory Loan quota before the drive started. Pincher Creek ran a close second.

C. C. Cross shot two grizzly bears near his Buckhorn Ranch at Beaver Lake. They had destroyed 16 young steers.

Did you hear about the fellow who wanted to pay income tax to make others think he had an income? Neither did we.

Alcohol is being used in the manufacture of smokeless powder. That's all very well, but can we afford to have guns halfshot? — Peterborough Examiner.

Pilot Officer Benson Coutts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Coutts, of Clarendon, has been reported missing in operations over enemy territory since September 7th.

A motorist reported that four out of five cars met between Bellevue and Blairmore on Wednesday night refused to dim their lights. Penalties are not sufficiently severe.

We understand that none of the district wardens or rangers had been notified of the extension of the fishing season up to Wednesday of this week. They could have been apprised by phone.

RED CROSS TEA

A Tea and Sale of Home Cooking will be held in the Red Cross rooms, Beatrice Apartments, West Blairmore, on Friday, October 30th, from 2 to 6 p.m.

Co-operating with the Blairmore Legion, B.E.S.L., and the I.O.D.E., these proceeds will be used for sending Christmas parcels to Blairmore boys overseas.

WOMEN'S VOLUNTARY SERVICES FOR CIVIL DEFENCE

41 Tothill Street, Westminster, S. W. 1, 15th April, 1942.

Dear Members of the Canadian Red Cross, Blairmore:

I cannot write a stereographed letter of thanks to your branch, but as it is over a year now since the W. V. S. began to act as the middleman between the Canadian Red Cross and the bombed-out civilians for whom your gifts are destined, I, as chairman of the W.V.S., want to send you a small appreciation of the work which you have done for the people in this country.

Your wonderful cases arrive in this country packed full of jam, of quilts, of children's clothes, of rubber boots and other marvellous things to ease the suffering and alleviate the distress of the people of this country. The work you have done for us as you sat sewing and knitting, or bent over cases packing up the bales, great as it has been, has been less than the unseen aid that you have sent us in the past dark and tragic year.

We still have a long way to go. There is still a great deal to be done. Not until every member of the Empire has shouldered his or her full responsibility, and can truly say that they have left no charge upon them unfulfilled, will the day of our ultimate victory come into sight. We have no hour to waste. The sense of urgency is everywhere.

HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

John Blasken, 66, Hillcrest miner, dropped dead while walking up the hill leading from Hillcrest to Bellevue on Tuesday afternoon, presumably while enroute to attend a Victory Loan concert. He had been in ill health for some months. He was a native of Czechoslovakia and an old timer in the Pass. He resided with his daughter, Mrs. N. Squarek, here. Two married daughters and four sons survive. The remains will be laid to rest this Friday.

LAC Pete Norton, of Vulcan, returned to Hillcrest for a brief visit with his parents and friends.

Mrs. B. Andrew was a visitor with her husband, Pilot Officer Andrew, at Lethbridge.

Mrs. P. Hudson and son Gary visited Mr. Hudson at Kimberley during the week.

J. Luini, driver in the Mohawk mine, sustained chest and leg injuries in an accident a few days ago.

Sgt. J. H. Atkinson, of the R.C.O.C., Kingston, Ontario, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Atkinson.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Owing to rain, threshing was held up here on Thursday.

C. J. Bundy was a patient in St. Vincent's hospital at Pincher Creek for a few days this week.

Horace Poulsen, stationed with the artillery at Victoria, B.C., is home on a two weeks army leave.

Mrs. J. Arnold, of Lethbridge, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gunn this week.

Mrs. Charles Poulsen is an inmate in hospital in Calgary. Her sons, Alma and Hood, accompanied her to the city.

Bruce Bouthillier threshed a fifty-acre field of wheat that averaged 63 bushels per acre.

Miss Isobel Porter will fill the vacancy left by Mrs. James Lote on her resignation as agent at the telephone central here. Mrs. Lote has faithfully and obligingly served the public here over a long period of years, and will be greatly missed when she leaves us.

The stock sale of calves, colts, pigs and sheep held in Lundbreck on Wednesday in aid of the Red Cross was highly successful. These animals were gathered together for sale, covering the country from Cardston to the Livingstone Range, and were all donated. Proceeds of the sale amounted to $2,360.

The annual turkey supper, sponsored by the ladies of St. Joseph's church, Cowley, and held in the Lundbreck community hall on Wednesday evening, was a huge success. An unusually large crowd was in attendance, and the tables were loaded to the last word with good things to eat. After everyone doing themselves ample justice here, their interests were turned in other directions for amusement, with bingo the chief attraction. Those winning tombola prizes were: M. A. Murphy, silk bed spread; Clifford Madden, large lace table cloth; Remi Lemire, fancy pillow cases; Nick Papp, box of apples, while a war savings certificate went to a girl at Beaver Mines. Miss Jeanette Labrie won the lovely big doll with wardrobe complete.

We were out fishing a few days ago and had pretty good luck. On one occasion we wound up our line so the hook was near the tip and laid the rod in the grass on the bank to hunt for more bait. When we returned the rod was missing and we found a fish had come up from the pool, grabbed the hook and dragged the rod tip first for forty yards across a meadow. Our partner hooked two fish at once—big ones. When he had them well out of the pool, he lost control of them and they both landed in a gopher hole. To recover them, he had to use a pick and shovel. A good time was had, and probably the last for the season.

STEPS TOWARD SOLUTION OF THE ALCOHOL PROBLEM

Golden text: Let justice roll down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream. Amos 5:24. Lesson: Ecclesiastes 10:17; Amos 8:21-24; Romans 14:19-21; II Corinthians 6:17; I Peter 4:1-5. Devotional reading: Isaiah 116-20.

Explanations and Comments
"Let the strength, not for drunkenness," Ecclesiastes 10:17. "Woe to thee, O land, when thy king is a child, and thy princes eat in the morning."

There are a number of different ways of keeping your food budget balanced, but right now a good rule of thumb way of getting the right foods in the right proportion is this—
Divide foods into four classes:

1. Dairy Products—milk, cheese, and butter
(fresh and dried), tomatoes, fruits (fresh and dried),
2. Meat, fish and eggs.
3. Cereals and other foods. This class includes bread, oatmeal, flour and the incidentals, sugar, coffee, tea, etc.

Then spend one-quarter or 25% of the money you have decided to spend on food on the articles in each class. If you are going to spend $12.00 a week on food, see that three of those dollars go for milk, cheese and butter and another three for fruit and vegetables. The remainder you spend too much for one class and too little for another you are feeding your family an unbalanced diet.

And remember that in class 3 Cereals and other foods—most of the money (unless you have lots to spend) should buy wholeheart bread and whole grain cereals. Rationing will help you out there. Tea, coffee and even sugar, to some extent, are not nutritional assets.
A post card request to the Western Division Health League of Canada, 111 Avenue Road, Toronto, will bring you a free copy of our up-to-date Vitamin Chart, or if you send us .10c we will mail you also a copy of the 1942 Menu, Shopping List and Recipes for a Week.

"Nazi Eyes On Canada"

Orson Welles, The Man From Mars, as Sam Dornan, Newspaperman.

Orson Welles, actor, radio and theatrical producer is flying to Toronto, Sunday, October 25th, to contribute his services on behalf of the Canadian Victory Loan. He stars as a Weekly Newspaper Editor in the last of the dramatic radio series "Nazi Eyes On Canada," to be broadcast over a coast-to-coast network, Sunday, October 25th at 7:30 p.m. E.D.T.

Orson Welles, he of the many talents and activities, has debbed in fields you'd never suspect. One little known episode in the varied Welles career took place when he was a 14-year-old veteran of scholastic theatricals. He was a columnist. There was a Chicago neighborhood daily called the "Highland Park News" which had a meager circulation. He had a byline over a column of theatre news and critiques. His journalistic career was short-lived, however, as he was fired for his caustic comment on the shows.

Next Sunday, for "Nazi Eyes On Canada," he becomes a newspaperman again. He will assume the part of Sam J. Dornan, Editor of the Alameda "Dispatch", Alameda, Saskatchewan. The broadcast will show by the description of everyday Alameda community folk, how their lives would change under the tyrannical heel of Nazi conquerors.

Sam J. Dornan has served 22 years as a director of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association. He is known by every weekly editor in Canada. Today, his five sons are in uniform—his eldest, a captain in Ordnance, was wounded in the Dieppe raid. Listen to Orson Welles as the Saskatchewan weekly newspaper editor in the final broadcast of the "Nazi Eyes On Canada" series, Sunday, October 25th at 7:30 p.m. E.D.T., over a coast-to-coast network.

Make Quart of Milk Costly For Guest in Hotel

Senator Gerald Nye, North Dakota Republican, told the Senate that a friend, stopping at a hotel in Washington, had paid $1.06 for a quart of milk he drinks nightly before retiring.

The hotel guest was informed, Nye said, that the quart of milk would have to be delivered to his room in four glasses. The charge was 30 cents for each glass, plus 25 cents for service to the room.

"I understand," Nye told his colleagues, "that the farmer whose dairy cattle produced that quart of milk may have received five cents for it."

ENJOYED THEMSELVES

An audience in occupied Denmark was viewing a Nazi newswear. Upon the appearance of Hitler getting into a plane, a voice rang out from the darkened houses, "Remember me to Heas!"

Instantly the lights went out, and the Gestapo searched for the guilty one. Failing, they ordered the show closed, told the people to get their money back at the door. Silently the audience fled out, not one stopping at the box-office for his refund.

"Why our money back?" they told the gaping Gestapos. "We enjoyed the show!"

Elocution is a good thing. But it doesn't go far enough. It merely teaches a man how to speak—not when or how long.

"I took the recipe for this cake out of the cookbook."

"You did perfectly right, dear. It never should have been put in."

"John, do you remember—it was in a storm like this that you declared your love for me?"

"Yes, it was a terrible night."

"Does it make any difference on which side of you I sit?" asked the sweet young thing.

"Not a bit, replied the bold young man. "I'm ambidextrous."

"Say, Bill, you didn't marry that girl back home while you were on vacation, did you?"

"Almost, Joe. Two of us were willing—and the minister."

Jack: My doctor advised me to go on a diet.

Fred: Did you do it?

Jack: After I paid his bill I had to.

Willeboethan — Young man, have you the firmness of character that enables a person to go on and do his duty in the face of ingratitude, criticism and heartless ridicule?

Jones—I ought to have, sir. I took for a fishing party two full weeks.

He: Of course not (pause), but I'd have to have you one tempt me with a good motor car.

"STINGY" NEWSPAPERS

Just the other day, a rather overpowering person entered the Herald offices. He hardly bothered to introduce himself. We gathered in time, however, that he was an official of one of the government's increasingly numerous organizations, as he made announcements that were to appear in our paper, relative to his tour of the district, the function of his visit, and so on.

Now, we are quite glad to co-operate freely under most circumstances, and, in relation to publicity hinging on the war effort, we usually feel it an obligation to do our part. There are many organizations, local and federal in scope, that have testified to this. But there was something about this visitor's off-hand glances and self-satisfied demands that irked us.

"It seems to us," your editor ventured, "that these announcements come under the head of advertising."

We knew the reply that was coming. "This is news," he declared. "And important news and if you knew your duty you wouldn't take such an attitude."

Goodness knows it is rather pleasant to find a government man who is willing to watch the public's money, and we are willing to concede that the trouble with many public servants is that they are altogether too ready to part with funds on the "what's-it-to-them" basis. But newspapers are also in the delicate position of having to make ends meet, along with many others in the world of today, and the special demands placed upon them in these war years are accompanied by diminishing business. So we decided to go ahead with our argument.

We explained that what was being offered wasn't news, that it was a request for a donation of what we had to sell commercially—our newspaper space.

Our first consideration should be to the government and the war effort, when it comes to making donations, we told our visitor—who was incredibly indignant by this time. But—and here we asked a few questions.

"Do you ever happen to get paid for your work?"

He didn't bother to answer. So we had to form our own conclusions.

"We know that you arrived here in Pentiction yesterday morning by train. And it's our hunch that the railway collected for your trip, your berth, your meals. The railway has a good deal more revenue to depend on than we have. Wasn't it its duty, as you put it, to provide you with what you needed for nothing? And what about your taxi from the station?"

There was still no answer.

"What is more," we went on, "you stayed at a hotel last night. It's our guess that you didn't ask the hotel to give you a free room, or if you did—we know the answer that was given you by the clerk. You've no doubt had your breakfast this morning, and we presume (as indeed we could, in casually studying our visitor's figure) that you had a good one, and didn't feel surprised when you were asked to pay your bill. You're smoking a nice cigar and the fact that you're doing this early in the morning suggests that you're quite given to the habit. There's also the suggestion that you don't approach your tobaccoist with the idea that it's his duty to let you have his commercial stock—on which he depends for his existence—for sweet duty's sake." We could have gone further, but there wasn't much point. By this time our visitor had slammed the door of our office.

It wasn't the first time we had had this distressing sort of argument. It's an old one in every newspaper office. But it is becoming more intense with the complex and growing demands of wartime, with so many causes, organizations, efforts seeking space. And that is why we take this opportunity to discuss it a bit.

Every newspaper has a special responsibility and privilege, altogether apart from its commercial existence, and we are steadily reminded, as we should be, that it is our obligation to climb well above any money-grabbing position, particularly in critical times. Newspapers abide by this reminder. By and large, they comprise an industry that is more willing to part with the chief stock in trade, on a voluntary basis of free donation, than any other in the entire nation.

On the other hand, they must pay their bills.

The swift readiness of most newspapers to donate their commercial products—their space—to a multitude of causes has long since blinded the public to the fact that an actual donation was being made. Faced with a swift decline of those sources of revenue from the more obvious commercial sources that usually keep the press functioning, newspapers must now do something to keep alive. People still want and need newspapers, and they don't want them to be puppets, outright subsidies maintained by the government in power.

It is to be hoped, then, that they will give intelligent and sympathetic consideration to the argument raised by the Herald with this one official. In the core of such an incident, repeated in newspapers across the country, there is an important seed—and whether the seed will sprout into a continuing free press or into an outright propaganda sheet for the authorities—or indeed whether it will die altogether in many instances—is a question, and an important one, that must be decided by the candor of editors and the support of the people. —Pentiction Herald.

THE FARMER'S VICTORY TICKET

The "Victory Ticket" plan is not intended as a substitute for outright cash purchases of Victory Bonds by agricultural producers, but offers a convenient supplementary method, Dominion headquarters of the National War Finance Committee has announced.

By means of the "Victory Ticket," the farmer can look forward to owning more Victory Bonds than he is able to purchase with cash, as his investment need not be limited to the amount of money he has available during the actual period of the Victory Loan campaign, which opened Monday of this week, the statement pointed out.

Under the "Victory Ticket" plan, the farmer authorizes his marketing agent to pay the value of certain specific products to the National War Finance Committee in the province where he resides. This money is to be paid over for the purchase of Victory Bonds for the farmer at the time the produce is delivered.

The farm programme for the Victory Loan consists of the following plans: (a) cash purchases, (b) instalment purchases, (c) purchases through bank loans, (d) "Victory Ticket" purchases.

"The war won't wait until hogs, cattle, grain, etc., are ready for delivery. This is the reason that cash sales rank first on the Victory Loan agricultural programme," an official of the National War Finance Committee pointed out. "We have to fight the enemy every minute. There cannot be any delay."

Back up your fighting forces by buying Victory Bonds.

NONSENSE!

Announcements over the air that the Dionnes may be brought to the Maple Leaf Gardens at Toronto to boost the Victory Loan drive does seem the high peak of infantile showmanship. What connection have the quints with spurring the public on to buy bonds to carry on the war? If they picked up five underprivileged children from scattered parts of Canada and used them as examples of conditions which may be improved after the war is won, it might have some meaning. But these five quints? No!—High River Times.

A kindergarten teacher was explaining to the pupils the functions of the various parts of the body: "We have hands to feel, eyes to see, feet to run, nose to smell..." Pupil (interrupting by holding up hand): "I think I was born wrong, for my nose runs and my feet smell."

The Calgary School Board invested $14,000 in the Third Victory Loan.

WE SHALL MISS HIM

Just a boy when last we saw him, Just a lad we liked to meet; Just a pleasant, cheerful youngster With a smile his friends to greet. He is missing, came the message, And we wait and hope in vain For there comes another message That has filled our hearts with pain. God made earth a place to live on, Filled it full of peace and joy; Man has blasted God's foundations— From fond parents took their boy. He is missing—we shall miss him— And shall hate the thoughts of strife Where to serve his King and country Our young boy friend gave his life. Go this message to his loved ones— You shall see your boy again; There will be a fond reunion. God alone can tell you when. —F. O. Bransted.

AS WE SEE IT

One of brother Bill's followers refused to have anything whatsoever to do with the new Victory Loan. Now as far as our opinion goes, we have no kick with Bill or his stooges, but the man in question seems to have gone even beyond the margin of loyalty. This local moron even had the gall to question the government's right in staging another loan. When asked if there was a simpler way to raise the money, he said they could use Hitler's method of taking it away forcibly, or even simpler, to print a few billion. He even used the same phrases as those in the book. Our money would have about as much value and confidence behind it as Bill's did a few years ago. If this man is showing his loyalty to Canada and the Canadian people, then we don't want anything to do with him or the clan he represents. It is hard to realize that someone living in our midst is working against the very ideals we are fighting for. If he believes he is using his intelligence by reading and misconstruing the drive concocted for suckers such as he, it is about time he woke up and realized that even if he follows the policies of his leader, there is such a thing as going farther than intended. It is about time to forget our own selfishness and petty ambitions and get into the fight.—Stavelly Advertiser.

"Catchin' any?" the bystander asked a fisherman.

"Caught forty fish outa here yesterday."

"Say, do you know who I am?"

"Nope," said the fisherman, "can't say I do."

"Well, I'm the county fish and game warden."

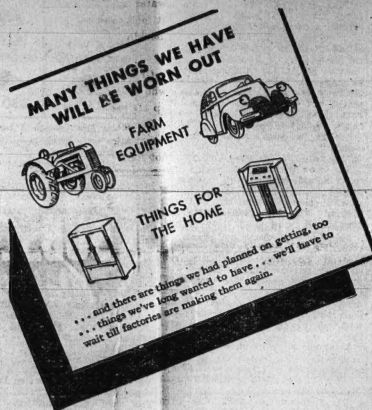

The fisherman thought for a moment, then said: "Say, do you know who I am?"

"No," said the officer.

"Well, I'm the biggest liar for miles around!"

WE'RE GOING TO NEED SO MANY THINGS WHEN THE WAR ENDS...things that are hard to get now

Every day, almost, we find that something else is getting scarce. So often, we are told "they're not making it any more". Factories are making guns instead of ploughs, tanks instead of tractors, planes and shells instead of stoves and beds. We'll have to replace so many things when the war ends...things we can't buy now.

MONEY INVESTED IN VICTORY BONDS

will provide the cash to buy them

TWO WAYS TO BUY VICTORY BONDS NOW

with cash

with produce

—with Cash

...in one lump sum, with money we have saved. There is no better way to protect our savings.

Or—we can buy bonds and pay for them through our banks in monthly instalments. As the instalments come due the bank will charge them to our accounts.

—with Produce

Farm folk can pay for Victory Bonds in another, convenient way—by using the "PRODUCE FOR VICTORY" TICKET. By simply signing a "Victory Ticket" you can authorize those who buy produce from you to send all or part of the proceeds to the War Finance Committee to buy Victory Bonds for you. (Ask your local War Finance worker for details.)

WHAT A VICTORY BOND IS

Look at a dollar bill. A dollar bill is like a bond. It's a promise to pay to the man who has it. You get bills when you sell things and pay them out when you buy things. A Victory Bond is "a bill" intended to be saved. When you keep a $100.00 Victory Bond for a year you receive an additional $3.00. (3% interest). Buy all the Victory Bonds you can—lend money to Canada to help to win the war. Save your bonds to have money for things you'll need when the war ends.

A SOLDIER'S LETTER

Dear Dad.

What is going on there? Yesterday, my July 13 issue of Time arrived. Today, as I read it, it makes me see and hear, and fills my mind with unanswerable questions. The drive for scrap rubber is a "disappointing failure," the sale of war bonds is $200,000,000 per month below government expectations; aggressive war must wait until after the November elections; steel laborers seek a dollar-a-day increase in wages.

What kind of a game is this that is being played in these United States? Is that our invincible, our proud country? While all over the world men are being shot to pieces, other men—the steel, the aluminum, the textile, the rubber workers—are quibbling about dollars, and Washington is still activated by politicians.

Where is that common sense of which we Americans were once so proud? So they want a raise because the cost of living has risen; but isn't it evident to even the most selfish that any increase in consumer purchasing power must necessarily add still more to that cost of living? Or maybe the true fact underlying this "greatest" war effort is the very simple fact that everyone is out to get whatever he can from this unprecedented opportunity. With the aspect of inflation clearly in view, our selfish, bigoted "patriots" are willing to risk chaos and defeat—yes, defeat—because they won't believe there is a war in progress that might engulf them; they argue over something that in reality does not exist.

But those smug, complacent people are playing with human lives! The trickle of beautiful planes comes over and we look up and say to each other: "Just think of what a thousand, five thousand of them could do." You don't feel that; we do. The seamen whose ships have been blown from under them talk of the useless waste because helpless boats are not convoyed. You haven't spoken to such men; I have. The stunned, half-dead sailors adrift for weeks on a raft—you have not seen them; I have. And "little steel" asks for an increase in wages.

Where is the conscience of America? Must another generation of young men suffer the same disillusionment as the previous generation did? Having been born in 1916, the last war is real to men only in what I have read and heard, and in what you have told me.

And all the while, the young gallant sailors and marines and soldiers are dying in the Pacific; and in Ireland the boys wait with the realization that they may be next. And we in the outposts who feel guilty because we are so far from the actual fighting, we sit and rot in stinking, malarial jungles and have time to think—and my mind becomes corroded with what I read. Those boys who are about to die, those who may be maimed, those who may live a lingering death with tropical disease, they ask so little. They will fight for you if you but give them the weapons. They will die so that you may have pretty homes and happy families, but don't let them lose faith.

Personally, I think we shall win this war, but only after tens of thousands of people have been needlessly killed, but let me offer this warning: If this generation of soldiers returns home to a collapsed and chaotic economic system due to inflation or any other cause that might easily have been prevented had the people but realized the dangers of their shortsightedness, we shall not stand docilely on street corners selling apples; we shall not ashamedly wait in line to receive bread. The American soldier is not a child who can easily be fooled, Dad; he is too well informed.

Is it asking too much of civilians to give up a little of their comfort so that some one else might win security for them? The President speaks of more and more sacrifices. Sacrifices—hell! Is it a sacrifice to defend one's self against impending disaster? What a ludicrous and tragic situation that soldiers must beg, actually beg, for arms to defend people who, by their very actions, don't seem to give a damn. The fine American institution of the Sunday motor trip is far more important than a hoard of supplies to the tankmen and aviators in Egypt. Sacrifices? Look at the Chinese people and learn what the word truly means.

To you, Dad, I would give a firm handshake, and to Mother, a tender kiss, for I am very proud of you both. America is not the land of your birth, but, in your wisdom and devotion to this country you love, you have become finer, more worthy citizens than a good majority of people who can trace their citizenship back several generations. Although Christianity is not your avowed faith, in your daily lives you prove you are better Christians than many of those fine people who every Sunday attend that beautiful church on the corner several blocks away.

Yes, Dad, tell them that my mind is sick and bitter. Tell them that I want to believe in my country, but I find it increasingly difficult to believe in its people. But who will listen? Who will want to listen to a solitary soldier crying out for justice? Who is interested in mere words when big money can be made—and the boys are dying in the Pacific?

CANADA YEAR BOOK

The 1942 edition of the Canada Year Book, published by authorization of the Hon. James A. MacKinnon, minister of trade and commerce, is announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. It is the official statistical annual of the country, containing a thoroughly up-to-date account of the natural resources of the Dominion and their development; the history of the country, its institutions, its demography; the different branches of production, trade, transportation, education, finance, etc. In brief, it is a comprehensive study within the limits of a single volume of the social and economic condition of the Dominion. It contains over 1,000 pages, including special war articles.

A limited number of copies are available to the public at $1.50 per copy postpaid. Application for copies should be made to the King's Printer, Ottawa. This fee simply covers a small part of the cost of producing the year book. By a special concession, a limited number of paper-bound copies have been set aside for ministers of religion, bona fide students and school teachers at 50 cents per copy, application for which must be made to the Dominion Statistician, Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Ottawa.

GAS RATIONING UNIT FURTHER REDUCED

Reduction of the basic rate for gasoline rationing from four to three gallons per unit took effect in Alberta and other provinces, with the exception of the maritimes, at the time of closing business on Saturday, October 17th.

The order has been issued by the federal munitions and supply department and affects some 90,000 motor car owners in Alberta. For those in "A" category, who would be entitled to 30 units for a six-month period, they will be entitled to 90 gallons now for each period, instead of 120 gallons previously, or 150 gallons before the basic rate was reduced to four gallons per unit a few weeks ago.

Those in the new "AA" category would receive 48 gallons for a six-month period, instead of 64 gallons under the previous allowance.

Action of the federal government in reducing the unit basis will be taken up at the annual meeting of the Alberta Motor Association to be held shortly. In view of the fact that Alberta is the largest oil producing region in the Dominion, it has been felt that this province was in a different position to others, and there was no warrant for reducing the rationing basis to the same extent as in other provinces.

THE "DRYS" SHOULD DEVOTE THEIR ENERGIES TO SOME OTHER CRUSADE

Temperance forces are still in full cry, clamoring incessantly for the government to introduce prohibition into force in Canada, and making the war one of the strong points of their arguments.

Distilling of hard liquors in Canada will cease after November 1st, not as a result of temperance forces, but because alcohol is needed in the manufacture of synthetic rubber, chemicals and explosives. Enough hard liquor is now maturing to serve Canada's drinkers for the duration of the war.

Those in Canada who like a drink are not unpatriotic citizens, undermining the war effort, as some would have us believe, but are just ordinary human beings. If the welfare of the country demands that they give up liquor they will be prepared to do so and gladly, but they do not wish to see prohibition in Canada. Neither do thousands who never touch liquor. The experience of our neighbor, the United States, has cured most of us of that stand.

Canada, in company with the United Nations, is fighting a war for democracy, a form of government in which the will of the majority prevails. In prohibitionists we have a minority group, who would force their will upon the rest of the people. They may truly believe that this would benefit the country, but it is certainly not democratic.—Drumheller Mail.

WITH SURVIVORS OF TORPEDOED SHIPS

The spirit and cheeriness of these men who have been through such frightful experiences is really amazing. Some of them have been torpedoed as many as seven times and yet are always impatient to get on another ship. Their tales are both tragic and amusing and their requests few. In fact they are usually most hesitant about accepting anything but the bare necessities. However, one old deckhand, with a nearsighted squint, asked if the Red Cross could supply him with a pair of glasses or even a magnifying glass so he might read the news, as his own were resting at the bottom of the Atlantic. Next in line pipes up: "Ow abawt me; I lost me specs an' me teeth, too. Last I saw of me 'choppers,' they were grinnin' at me from a bucket of water on deck an' I 'ad no time to go fishin' for em!"

Believe it or not, they pick up ten shilling notes in the middle of the Atlantic in the middle of the night. One young merchant navy lad had this experience. "I was swimming for a lifeboat and the flares from some of the ships lit up the waters sufficiently for me to see half a quid floating by, so I helps myself!"—Newfoundland Cor. respondent to Red Cross Despatch.

What our $750,000,000 will do: build 2,208 ram tanks for the Army, 397 Lancasters for Britain, 55 corvettes for the Navy, pay Canada's munitions bill for 73 days, pay our air training costs for five months and maintain 300,000 soldiers overseas, for eight weeks. This estimate of what 750 millions will do has been worked out on a pro rata basis, using the percentage forecast in the 1942-43 budget as follows: Army 26.5%, Navy 6.9%, Air 15.5%, munitions 9.4%, gift to Britain 26.5% and government 15.2%.

The current issue of the Canadian Elk contains a list of lodges in the various provinces which have contributed to the "Save the Children" fund. In British Columbia, Duncan No. 69 and Victoria No. 2 led the way with $100 each; in Alberta, Blairmore No. 15 and North Star No. 266 with $200 each; in Saskatchewan, Swift Current No. 68 with $150 and Nipawin No. 251 with $120.84; Manitoba, Portage la Prairie 32 with $322.50 and Russell 20 with $218.40; Ontario, Fort William — with $220.20; Quebec, Knapquai 41 with $10; Nova Scotia, Sydney 270 with $100. A total of $2,561.20 was subscribed by 42 lodges, many of which subscribed from $5 to $100.

CANADIAN PARATROOPERS READY FOR THE NEXT HOP

Like a football squad waiting for the kickoff, a group of Canadian paratroopers in training at Fort Benning, Ga., with full jumping equipment, awaits the next hop. All these lads have completed their course at Fort Benning with the U.S. Army and now form the nucleus of the Canadian Army paratroop force at Camp Shilo, Man. They are from left to right: L.Corp. J. V. Mitchell, Toronto; Sgt. R. C. Porter (American instructor), Toronto; Corp. N. S. Champman, Vancouver; Corp. W. D. Gabell; Sgt. Appleton, Glade Bay; Corp. C. W. Shaddock, Ingersoll, Ontario; L.Corp. W. H. Fitzsimmons, Toronto; Sgt. Major A. T. Clifton, Ottawa.

Hot water is better than cold water in which to soak dried fruit, and only requires half the time for soaking. Hot water is also better than cold water for the soaking of good rum. It only requires half the time for drinking.

The truck driver was unfortunate enough to run his car into a house, where a woman stood ironing. Some what bewildered, he did not know what to say, and blurted out: "Can you tell me the way to Coleman?"

Three members of the original Dumbells recently entertained the boys at Currie Barracks, Calgary. They were James Devron, Jack Ayre and Pat Rafferty.

It's great to open second fronts. And third, and fourth, and more. We'll need to battle every place To win this total war. But let's remember, total war Needs total victory. And here at home is our first front—The fight for unity.—Times Bombs.

Heroes Of Dieppe

WITH DEEP FEELINGS of pride and satisfaction the people of Canada recently received word of the hundred and seventy-eight awards bestowed by His Majesty King George VI on officers and men of the Canadian army who took part in the raid on Dieppe. Before the raid had been over for many hours, stories of great gallantry and courage were made known, and it is gratifying to the people of Canada that these deeds were recognized in the large number of honors which were given out. Many officers and men of Western Canada regiments were decorated, and the Queen's Own Cameron of Winnipeg led in the list of honours. This was the only Manitoba regiment taking part in the battle.

Victoria Cross Is Awarded

To Lt.-Col. Charles Cecil Merritt, officer commanding the South Saskatchewan Regiment, went the only Victoria Cross to be awarded, and the first one to be presented to a Canadian in the present war. The story of, and it is one that will form a brilliant chapter in the story of Canada's part in this war. That Lt.-Col. Merritt is a prisoner of war and is believed to have been wounded is deeply regretted by the people of Canada. Members of the South Saskatchewan Regiment received twenty-one awards in all. To ten of the officers and men went medals, while eleven were mentioned in dispatches. Twenty-four awards were made to the Queen's Own Cameron of Winnipeg, while the Calgary Tanks, and the Calgary Highlanders each received two.

Men From Farms At War

In recent weeks farmers in Canada, and particularly in the Prairie Provinces, have experienced difficulty in securing help to harvest the bountiful crop which was produced this year. In many districts this labor shortage caused serious hardship and concern, and it is a problem which reached into almost every farming community in the land. For many, however, there must have been compensation in knowing that the young men who would normally be providing the labour for this harvest are fighting in the skies and on the seas to keep our country free, and that many of them, some wounded, some prisoners of war, and some killed in action, were among those heroes of Dieppe who were honored by the Empire in the awards bestowed upon them.

The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In Our Canadian Army
By Alan Maurice Irwin

Why do you read this column? Because you are interested in the Army. And the reason you are interested in the Army is because your son or your brother or your father or your sister or your mother is in the Army.

You can't find out enough to satisfy you. You want to know what he is doing, what his environment is, what his companions are like or to know whether she is amongst congenial people, what her job is or is likely to be.

In other words, and your particular contact with Army life may not realize it, you want to know every little thing that goes on. The sort of thing that is so close to the letter-writer that he or she does not think of it as being interesting. Right?

Since we understand each other on this point let's have a look at the other side.

What about the soldier—male or female—who awaits your letters from home?

What sort of letters do you write? Do you tell every little thing that goes on, do you realize that no soldier, man or woman, is so far from home that home isn't the most absorbing thing to read about when the Mail Corporal comes around with the letters? Or parcels?

Not long ago some of our statesmen made plans for letters to soldiers that would buck up their morale. They wanted us to write brightly and cheerily so that the boys and girls would get better about things.

Stuff, nonsense and poppycock! If our statesmen would think less about public morale—about which they apparently know nothing—and pay more attention to the beams in their own eyes we might get on with the war.

The troops don't need artificial cheerfulness—the kind of boys and girls in need of artificial cheer haven't yet volunteered for active service—what they want is news of their real life, the life they have put behind them until they finish the job of making a continuance of that life possible.

Tell them what's happening around the barn, down by the post office, who is "going with" who—or should it be whom?—how many kittens Tabby had last time, how Aunt Martha looked when she slipped on the cellar stairs and broke her ankle. Write a chapter about the new teacher who slapped the face of the fresh kid whose father is chairman of the school board.

In other words, keep them in the family circle. And when you are doing that—and be sure to do it often, but not because you fear a loss of morale—give a thought to the Canadian Postal Corps. There is an unpublicized unit of specialists who get nothing but criticism from their fellow soldiers because mail is one of the things we take for granted when we get it—and curse the postman for when it is late!

It is a mammoth task, this handling of letters and parcels to hundreds of thousands of addressees who have literally "no known address". When you put your letter in the mail box its destination, unknown to you of course, may be the West Indies, Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, Egypt, Gibraltar, England, Scotland or Brockville. It may change from one of those destinations to another while the letter is en route.

But that letter is delivered, and in less time than the civilian post office which works very closely with the C.P.C., could handle an ordinary piece of mail.

As an example imagine you have decided to take a trip to Vancouver. Hat way there you decide to run south and spend a couple of days in Chicago. Your appetite whetted by the Windy City, you change your mind again and head for Los Angeles—where you find your mail waiting for you!

Sounds like magic, doesn't it? Well—it would be magic if it could be done in civilian life, but in the Army it's different. There you have an organization that has to keep its component departments advised of everything that goes on so that supply and transport will be arranged.

Movements planned in advance, are known to all concerned and the "magic" becomes just good business practice that results in the delivery of a letter originally destined for Sergeant Brown in Scotland to Officer Cadet Brown in Brockville, Ontario, the minute he arrives there.

This is just one of the ways in which the Individual Citizens Army looks after the sons and daughters of that larger Individual Citizens Army that pays the bills.

Let us, then, instead of being just content to pay the bills, see to it that the public servants we hire to do the work of running our government leave no stone unturned to back up the armed forces.

We tell these hired men of ours to do an all-out job. We criticize them for not doing it to our satisfaction. We must do more than that—we must give them the leadership we hired them to give us.

So far we have been rationed in a few insignificant commodities—all things we could do without. Most of my correspondents tell me they would welcome the rationing of many other commodities.

Don't tell me. Tell the man you hired last election!

Food In Britain

People Have Enough But Many Things Are Not Obtainable

E. M. H. Lloyd, economic advisor to the British Ministry of Food, told the American Hotel Association convention at Detroit that the biggest steak now served in British hotels is only the size of a dollar bill. He said there are no bananas, grapefruit or lemons, no fresh eggs or fresh milk, no white bread, sausages with only 30 per cent. meat, and little or no salad dressing, but added Britain's food situation "is better than anyone had reason to expect."

SUPPLIES GOING IN

One of the interesting speculations of the war is how Gen. Draja Mihailovich's forces in Yugoslavia are being supplied with arms and ammunition. A despatch to the New York Times from Ankara speaks of them being "recently reinforced by nearly a hundred tons of light arms and munitions—including automatic rifles, machine-guns and tommy guns."

A new special court has made its appearance in Bohemia to try persons charged with contempt of the German nation. A refusal to dance with a German soldier is considered an act of contempt and is punishable by a term of several weeks in prison.

ALL-BRAN'S "BETTER WAY" HAS BEEN OUR WAY FOR A LONG TIME

Says Mr. Charles Belair, Arvida, Quebec: "TELLOGO'S ALL-BRAN has long been a favorite in our home. Mother used to serve it to us when we were young... and since my wife started making ALL-BRAN muffins three or four times a week and serving ALL-BRAN as a breakfast cereal, we have had no more use for pills or powders. ALL-BRAN keeps us regular... naturally." Why don't you try ALL-BRAN'S

"Better Way" to correct the upset if you are troubled by constipation due to lack of the right kind of 'bulk' in your diet? But remember, ALL-BRAN doesn't work like harsh cathartics. It takes time. Eat it regularly and drink plenty of water. Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's, in two convenient size packages, or ask for the individual serving package at restaurants. CARE OF THE TEAKETTLE

Careful teakettle attention is sometimes lacking in the kitchen. For instance, water should never be allowed to stand in a teakettle when it is not in use. If water is left inside, time deposits form and heating time is increased. Any time deposits formed this way may be loosened by heating in a vinegar solution and removed by scrubbing with a fine scouring powder. From time to time the inside of the kettle should be given a good clean-up.

North Carolina Paper Glad Canada Is Ally Of United States

The Charlotte, N.C. Observer says: Canadian soldiers had the biggest part in the super Commando raid on Dieppe, bearing the brunt of the fight. They are a vital people, direct actionists. They have not become bogged down in theory and discussions or too much organization with too little done. Their sparkplugs are still working.

It is lucky that we have Canada for an ally. Canadians stand on two good feet and fight with two good arms, feed themselves, arm themselves and generally play the part of men who expect to pay their own way as they go through life.

LET'S ALL GET IN ON THE COMING OFFENSIVE WITH VICTORY BONDS

Shadows of coming events now reach out to you—to each and every one of us—with a challenge! For those shadows forecast great Allied offensives that must take place before our Victory comes. These shadows also warn of an urgent need for the tools of war—without which there will be no offensive—no Victory!

One of the greatest and most powerful tools of war is money. Behind every soldier, airman and sailor—behind every tank, plane and ship, there must be the power to purchase so that war material of every description can be made available to our fighting men and women.

It's our job to make it an early Victory by buying the new Victory Bonds!

Coal Position In Britain Said To Be Critical

London.—British householders will be a little duller and draughtier this winter due to fuel economies, but nobody is likely to freeze in Britain's damp and chilly climate.

"Even if fuel is rationed or if fuel targets are observed, there will be only a 20-per cent. reduction in heat comfort" compared with pre-war days," said an official of the department of economic warfare.

"For the rest of Europe, however, the prospect is bleak. The best Germany can hope for will not be more than two-thirds peacetime comfort. In other continental countries the consumption of fuel permitted will be from half last year's consumption to none at all."

Although officials admit that Britain's coal position is critical, there's no immediate indication that a much-mooted rationing scheme, which Labor members of parliament consider necessary, will be introduced.

Just when people were thinking about switching on electric heaters and heaping coal on the living room fire the fuel ministry banned central heating in flats until November. Instead, they advised people to don woollies and heavier clothing earlier than usual.

This suggestion was directed especially to women—accustomed to going about in scanty underclothes and frilly dresses—by Sir Lenoard Hill, eminent physiologist. His "prescription" for the save-fuel winter was, in a nutshell, "open your windows and wear more clothes."

Scrap Metal Is Essential For Armor Plate

Ottawa.—Scrap metal is essential for the continued production of armor plate for Canadian fighting equipment and cannot be supplanted by the production of steel from pig iron, A. W. Brown, executive assistant to the steel controller, told a House of Commons committee studying wartime salvage.

The scrap is mixed with pig iron in making armor plate and there is a limit to the amount of pig iron which can be used in relation to the scrap in producing the best plate.

Installation of converter equipment in a Canadian steel plant would increase the production of material from pig iron which would take the place of scrap to a limited degree, but the demand for scrap in large quantities would continue.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, asked as to the possibility of developing Vancouver Island iron ore deposits in association with coal fields close at hand.

Mr. Brown said a shortage of labor had been reported for British Columbia area, and the opening of a steel plant there would probably also involve the opening of a new coal mine to supply it with fuel.

The blast furnaces would have to be obtained from the United States which already was having difficulty securing sufficient equipment of this nature.

R. W. Mayhew, member of parliament for Victoria, B.C., said that if steel furnaces were placed where the ore was available, "the whole basis would be better than at present."

Ingots produced in British Columbia furnaces might be sent to the United States west coast in exchange for a similar number of ingots delivered from the United States to Canada in the east.

"We have been in the bonanza period of scrap collection, and it is to be expected that supplies will be more difficult to obtain," said Roy Graham, Liberal M.P. for Swift Current.

L. Levin, administrator of steel scrap, and Mr. Brown agreed that when converted equipment went into operation some months from now there would be production which would lessen the demand on scrap but only to a limited extent.

Mr. Levin said it was accepted that the heavy demand for scrap would continue, and when the readily accessible supplies had been consumed it would be necessary to turn to wrecked ships, to the exploration of old city dumps and to other expensive sources.

In the meantime, steel salvage authorities were seeking heavier types of salvage to keep furnaces going. It might be necessary during the winter to take ornamental fences and similar sources of scrap.

PLENTY OF NERVE

British Airmen Steel Nerve And Make Escape
Chairs.—Two British airmen, shot down in the Egyptian desert and faced with a long trek back to their own lines, solved the problem by stealing two enemy bombers from a German airfield and flying them back.

"They had already set out from the wreck of their crashed plane and had walked 10 miles toward the east when they saw a German bomber coming down to land not far away. Climbing to the top of a rocky hillock, they saw the air field. There were no buildings; only a few tents and lorries and these seemed poorly guarded. There were only a handful of men around."

They waited until nightfall when, they felt sure, their British flying kit wouldn't be recognized in the darkness. One of the airmen spoke German almost as fluently as English.

They strolled onto the flying field, but the bombers were surrounded by a swarm of ground crew and sentries. It was too late to turn back. In his best Prussian one Briton blustered: "Why weren't these ready long ago? This one should be ready by now."

He was hastily assured that the planes were ready. "Right, then, we're off with them to base," the airman said. A show of hesitation was quelled with a flow of invective and threats. Engines were started up, wheel blocks removed and the two Britons were away.

AIR SCHOOL APPOINTMENT

Winnipeg.—W. J. Buchanan has been appointed assistant general manager of Winnipeg Air Observer School Limited, according to an announcement by C. R. Troup, general supervisor of schools, Canadian Pacific Air Lines, Limited. Mr. Buchanan's appointment to this British Commonwealth Air Training post became effective Oct. 1.

FREE TREATMENT

Winnipeg.—Free treatment of tuberculosis cases for all Winnipeg citizens was approved by the city council and will begin Nov. 1. The council announced the Manitoba government concurred in the plan. Free tuberculosis treatment is given both in Saskatchewan and Ontario.

GUEST CHILDREN

Only A Small Percentage Of Children From Britain Have Reached Military Age

Ottawa.—Only a small percentage of the British guest children brought to Canada under the joint government scheme have reached or are approaching the age when they will become liable for military service, Mrs. D. S. Archibald, representative of the children's overseas reception board in Canada, said here.

Of some 6,000 children brought to Canada from Britain, 1,532 came out under the government-sponsored scheme. Some of these children have already returned to their homes in the United Kingdom, including four boys who had reached military age.

(A report from Edmonton said that of the 111 British guest children living in Alberta, about seven are approaching the age when they will become liable for military service.)

Girls brought to Canada by the government will be allowed to return to the United Kingdom or if they desire, to take war work in Canada when they reach the age of 18, said F. C. Fair, director of immigration. Girls who have come out temporarily to private school in Canada are free to return home whenever they obtain their parents' consent, he added.

MISSIONARIES LAIN

Two Priests And Two Sisters Killed By Japanese

London.—Four Mariet missionaries, two priests and two sisters, were slain by Japanese soldiers on Guadalcanal island in the Solomon, the British colonial office said.

The announcement, which said all four were bayoneted in the throat, identified the victims as Father Arthur Duhamel, 34, of Boston, Mass.; Father Henry Engberink, 33, of Utrecht, Netherlands; and Sisters Sylvia and Odaya, believed to be from France. Another missionary, Sister Edmee, escaped.

MORE PORK

Urges Farmers Be Permitted To Raise 300-Pound Hogs

Edmonton.—Oscar A. Brown, livestock commission agent on Edmonton stockyards, in an interview here urged that Canadian farmers be permitted to feed hogs to around 300 pounds liveweight instead of about 200 and said this would increase supplies available for Britain.

"It takes six months to raise a 200-pound hog while an extra month will produce a 300-pound hog," he said. "With worlds of feed grain, why not step up weights and production, save labor and forget rail grading for the duration of the war."

"Surely Canadian wheat and barley-fed hogs will meet with as much favor overseas as U.S. cornfed hogs weighing as much as 300 pounds and more," he added.

Reading of market news has been a heart-breaker to Canadian hog producers as American producers are getting up to $15.70 per hundred weight. Liveweight for big fat cornfed pigs which is more than Canadian farmers get for their best bacon hogs, dressed weight, said Mr. Brown.

FIRE SQUAD

Britain Is Ready For Incendiary Bombs From German Planes

London.—Hitler's boast that the German air force will take reprisals for the empire's devastating raids on the reich won't find the nation napping if incendiary bombs are showered over Britain. Every house and building has been equipped with a fire-watching squad.

Fire-watching nowadays is compulsory for men and women with heavy fines for those failing to man their posts, raid or no raid. This resulted from lessons learned during the last heavy attacks when as much damage was caused by fire as high explosive.

Male civilians between 18 and 65 who aren't otherwise employed in civil defense or exempted for other reasons were first compelled to take their turn in a rotation system at home or at place of business. Then when call-ups depleted the ranks the order was extended to include women 22 to 44.

This measure started a controversy which raged for weeks before it died a natural death. Herbert Morrison, minister of home security, steadfastly refused to change his decision to conscript women.

Strangely enough, it wasn't women who caused the rumpus. Complaints came from men who thought women didn't possess the nerve or physical stamina to fight fire bombs.

NAZI GENERAL FIRED

Report That Chief Of German General Staff Was Dismissed

London.—The Daily Express published a Stockholm despatch saying it was understood in the Swedish capital that Col.-Gen. Franz Halder, chief of the German general staff, was dismissed four weeks ago.

The story said his dismissal followed high command orders that all big-scale offensives should be stopped in October to enable the German army to consolidate positions and prepare its winter quarters. This, the message said, was opposed by the Nazi party.

Superiority Over Nazi Air Force Is Very Essential

Washington.—Capt. E. V. (Eddie) Rickenbacker brought back from an official survey trip to Britain the conclusion that a second aerial war in Europe must await decisive success for the British-American air offensive.

Already aerial superiority is "definitely on the Allies' side" and "the trend is entirely in our favor," the First Great War air ace reported to War Secretary Henry Stimson. But he added:

"The European theatre will remain an air theatre until we have secured superiority over the German air force and paralyze the production capacity of the German aircraft industry."

In general, Rickenbacker said that "the picture, from our standpoint, is as bright as the grim portrait of war can be," although he warned against complacency. American planes and tactics have proven sound and have won the approval of British authorities.

"We must keep our aircraft plants going at full capacity and send a steady stream of bombers, fighters, air crews and ground crews, and all that goes with it, flowing to England, so that in time there will be a constant cloud of Allied combat craft over the skies of Germany," Rickenbacker added.

"The total German air force, he said, "does not exceed 4,700 operational combat planes" of every type, a very small percentage of these being bombers.

"It would be a mistake, however, to draw the conclusion that German air power is on the decrease," he continued.

"While we may hope that British and American bombers have crippled German aircraft production and maintenance in Germany and France, the case may well be that the Germans are working feverishly on new design planes to offset the aerial superiority which, at the present writing, is definitely on the Allies' side."

Great Need For Support Of The Victory Loan

Toronto.—The need for support of Canada's third Victory Loan from everyone in Canada was stressed by Hon. J. L. Halsey, federal minister of finance, in an address prepared for delivery before combined service clubs here. "The magnitude of the undertaking is so great that it cannot succeed without support from all parts of the nation and all groups in the nation," he said.

Substantial subscriptions must be expected from the well-to-do and from the middle class, Mr. Halsey said. It is "getting progressively more difficult for them to subscribe" but it is "getting more difficult or less necessary" to spend money in other ways.

"Victory Loan subscriptions on top of taxes will not only help the nation to carry on the war—they will help us to force ourselves to live as we should in wartime."

"However much we obtain from business and the well-to-do," Mr. Halsey said, "we must rely for a great deal of our requirements upon savings by wage earners, and now by farmers. This is not only highly desirable as a matter of social policy—it is essential as a matter of arithmetic."

We need so much of the national income now for war purposes—passing through the treasury—that all the incomes of the rich, all the profits and savings that business can make, will by no means meet our requirements.

"We must persuade the working men and women of this nation—who are naturally receiving a large and growing share of its income as employment expands—to save a large portion of their earnings now so that they may spend them after the war, or retain them as security."

Mr. Halsey said that selling bonds in factories and to other workers is a new and difficult task, but added that with the experience in the first and second Victory Loans and in war savings campaigns, an efficient and widespread organization has been developed.

"But organization and publicity cannot do the job alone," he declared. "We need enthusiastic practical support."

At time of going to press we learn that of Blaimore's Third Victory Loan quota of $60,000, eighty-five sales up to last night had brought in $11,600, and has now reached $15,000. The local Frank-Blaimore committee are quite confident that our quota will be considerably over-subscribed.

The Portland Oregonian gave this report of the harvest situation: "Pickers' prospects of getting pickle pickers to pick pickles for pickle packers to pack are poor. Pickle pickers let pickles go to rot to partake of pleasanter pickin' in war production, leaving pickle packers without pickles to pack in a pretty pickle."

Some local boys are engaging in malicious mischief and are going to land with the police unless they quit soon. One night last week they undertook to tear a big bunch of paper into strips to float around town. Our main street was littered from end to end on Friday morning. Another trick was the cutting away of cords attached to store awnings.

The most thrilling moment of a paratrooper's training comes with his first jump. Here a few of the Canadians who took a full paratrooper's course with the U.S. Army at Fort
